Business Insights and Recommendations

According to the above charts:

1. July provided the most sales. Although June is second with December in hindsight.
2. Rice is the most purchased, therefore, products like noodles and bread should be properly investigated to understand why customers are not very interested in it. Surveys and questionnaires, interviews and even observations can be carried out to better understand customer needs.
3. Customer loyalty should be improved in low performing states and products like rice which these states have been studied to purchase more should be in stock always.
